

Superintendent Search Focus Groups

Parents, Community, and District Staff Invited to Participate

The Groton-Dunstable Regional School District School Committee is scheduling several focus groups as part of the Superintendent search process.

An integral part of the Superintendent search process involves parent and community participation in focus groups. The focus groups are designed to obtain input about the attributes, experience and knowledge that are desired for the new superintendent. The groups also provide an opportunity for participants to identify immediate tasks, which they would like the new superintendent to address.

Each group will last approximately an hour and a half.
